QUESTION 38: WOMEN

In this question all men agree, which surprises us because it does not reflect the reality of a society that has always imposed a canon of beauty to women. We believe that these answers do not reflect what men really think, but as we have said before, everyone has opted for the option considered "Politically correct". In this case, women doubt whether their physical appearance matters or not.

MYTHS ABOUT LOVE AND RELATIONSHIPS

With the following questions we confirm what we have known for a long time, teenagers have a false perception of love. They take as true the romantic love that sells us on television and without which, you are incomplete. That love in which the prince must save the princess, even more, in which the prince has the power and control over the princess. That love without which it is not worth living and for which you could give up anything.

30. Everyone has better half

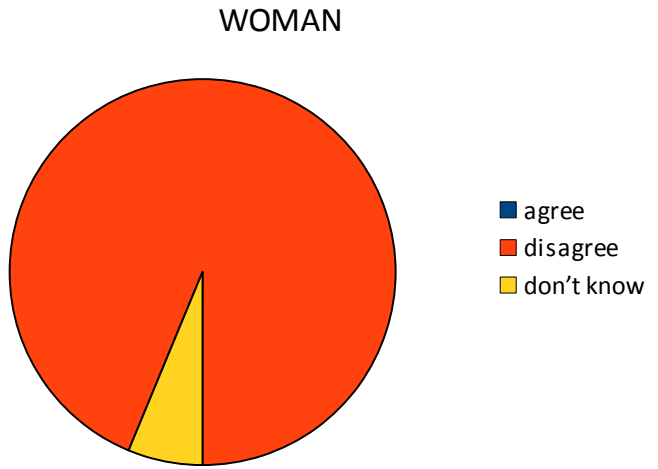

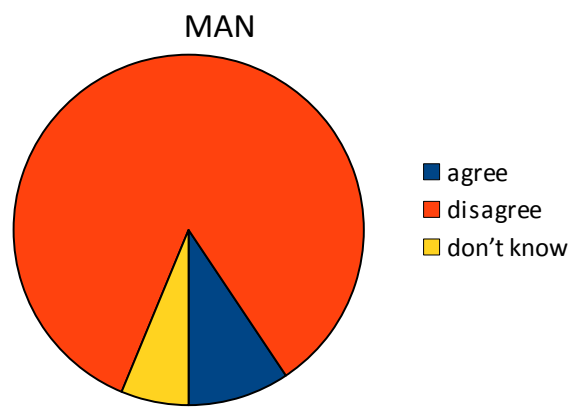

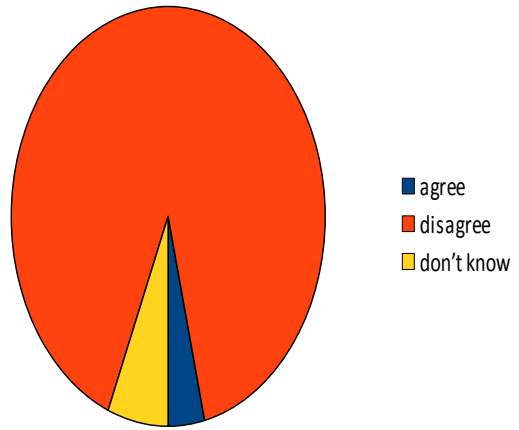

The belief that we all have a soulmate, is quite normal among teenagers or even among older men and women. As we can, see the results of the survey are quite confusing, since the answer that predominates is "I do not know". With this "I do not know" we can understand that people think that the soulmate could exist, even if they are not completely sure. The idea that the human being is incomplete without another person is as depressing as it is false, and next to jealousy, one of the greatest deceptions of romantic love.

33. If my partner is keeping a watchful eye on me and calls me constantly it is because he/she loves me so much.

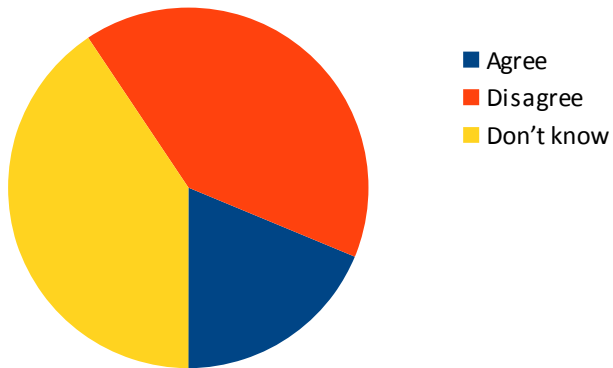

Both men and women disagree mostly. However, there are exceptions. There are many women who Doubt. We suppose that because control is something normalized or because it is considered an affective gesture. Here men are more in agreement, either because of the social role of man that controls the relationship or because of the false need to protect women.

41. Girls often complain about the toughness of the boys, but deep down they like it

FEMINISM

Feminism is a subject that is much talked about today. It may be that much of the controversy it causes is due to a misunderstanding of the same term. Feminism, a movement that seeks to achieve gender equality seems not to be understood by adolescents, who have responded in a totally contradictory way in the questions that dealt with it.
